REPORT OF INDEPENDENT AUDITORS

To the Board of Directors of The Gladney Center for Adoption and The Gladney Fund

We have audited the accompanying combined financial statements of The Gladney Center for Adoption and The Gladney Fund (collectively, the "Organization"), a non-for-profit organization, which comprise the combined statements of financial position as of August 31, 2014 and 2013, and the related combined statements of activities and functional expense for the year ended August 31, 2014, and the cash flows for the years ended August 31, 2014 and 2013, and the related notes to the financial statements.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these combined financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these combined financial statements based on our audits. We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Dallas Fort Worth Houston

Opinion

In our opinion, the combined financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of The Gladney Center for Adoption and The Gladney Fund as of August 31, 2014 and 2013, and the related combined statements of activities and functional expense for the year ended August 31, 2014, and their cash flows for the years ended August 31, 2014 and 2013 in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Report on Summarized Comparative Information

We have previously audited the Organization's 2013 combined financial statements, and our report dated December 11, 2013, expressed an unmodified opinion on those audited financial statements. In our opinion, the summarized comparative information presented herein for the year ended August 31, 2013, is consistent, in all material respects, with the audited combined financial statements from which it has been derived.

B. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

A summary of the Organization's significant accounting policies consistently applied in the preparation of the accompanying combined financial statements follows.

Basis of Accounting

The accompanying combined financial statements are presented on the accrual basis of accounting in accordance with the recommendations of the Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") 958-205, Presentation of Financial Statements. Under FASB ASC 958-205, the Organization is required to report information regarding its financial position and activities according to three classes of net assets: unrestricted net assets, temporarily restricted net assets and permanently restricted net assets.

Principles of Combination

The combined financial statements include the accounts of the Center and the Fund. All significant accounts and transactions between the Center and the Fund have been eliminated in combination.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("GAAP") requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the dates of the combined financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the respective years. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

B. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies – continued

Cash

The Organization considers all certificates of deposit, commercial paper, and U.S. government securities with original maturities of three months or less, when purchased, to be cash. The Organization maintains deposits primarily in one financial institution, which may at times exceed amounts covered by insurance provided by the U.S. Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation ("FDIC"). The Organization has not experienced any losses related to amounts in excess of FDIC limits.

Contributions Receivable

Unconditional promises to give that are expected to be collected within one year are recorded at their net realizable value. Unconditional promises to give that are expected to be collected in future years are recorded at the present value of their estimated future cash flows. The discount on those amounts is computed using a risk free interest rate. Amortization of the discount is included in contribution revenue. Conditional promises to give are recognized when the conditions on which they depend are substantially met.

Management provides for estimated uncollectible amounts through a provision for bad debt expense and an adjustment to an allowance for uncollectible pledges based on its assessment of the current status of individual receivables. Balances that are still outstanding after management has used reasonable collection efforts are written off through a charge to the allowance for uncollectible pledges and a credit to the applicable contribution receivable. Management considers all outstanding pledges to be fully collectible.

Investments

The Organization follows the provisions of FASB ASC 958-320 Investments – Debt and Equity Securities, and FASB ASC 958-325, Investments – Other, which requires investments with readily determinable fair values to be stated at their fair value with unrealized gains and losses from fluctuations in the market value included in the statement of activities and changes in net assets. The fair values of investments in equity securities and debt securities (including mutual fund shares) with readily determinable fair values are based on the quoted market price of the shares owned at August 31, 2014 and 2013.

The Organization also follows FASB ASC 820, Fair Value Measurement, which establishes a framework for measuring the fair value of certain assets and liabilities. That framework provides a fair value hierarchy that prioritizes the inputs to valuation techniques used to measure fair value. For more information related the Organization's valuation methodologies using FASB ASC 820, see Note D of these combined financial statements.

Endowment Funds

The Organizations follows FASB ASC 958-205, Presentation of Financial Statements for the net asset classification of donor-restricted and board-designated endowment funds.

The Organization has a number of endowments which provide funding for various programs and other operations of the Organization. As required by GAAP, net assets associated with endowment funds are classified and reported based on the existence or absence of donor-imposed restrictions.

Management has interpreted the Uniform Prudent Management of Institutional Funds Act ("UPMIFA") as requiring the preservation of the fair value of the original gift as of the gift date of donor-restricted endowment funds absent explicit donor stipulations to the contrary. Accordingly, the Organization classifies the original value of the permanently restricted endowment gifts as permanently restricted net assets. Accumulated net earnings on endowment funds are classified as unrestricted or temporarily restricted net assets until those amounts are appropriated for expenditure in accordance with any applicable donor designations and in a manner consistent with the standard of prudence prescribed by the UPMIFA.

In accordance with UPMIFA, the Organization considers the following factors in making a determination to appropriate or accumulate donor-restricted endowment funds:

- The duration and preservation of the fund,
- The purposes of the Organization and the donor-restricted endowment fund,
- General economic conditions,
- The possible effect of inflation and deflation,
- The expected total return from income and the appreciation of investments,
- Other resources of the Organization, and
- The investment policies of the Organization.

The Organization's primary investment objectives are growth with income and preservation of capital. Management defines risk as the probability of not meeting these objectives. Accordingly, the Organization has adopted investment and spending policies for endowment assets that attempt to provide a predictable stream of funding to grants and operations supported by endowments while seeking to maintain the purchasing power of the endowment assets. Under these policies, as approved by the Organization's board of directors, endowment assets are invested in a manner that is intended to minimize risk and produce results that exceed a composite index comprised of relevant individual indices that reflect the Organization's asset allocations.

Beneficial Interest in Trust

The beneficial interest in trust consists of investments held in trust by outside trustees with the Organization as the income beneficiary. Certain income from the beneficial trust is paid to the Organization and gains (losses) are retained by the beneficial trust. The Organization has no control over investment decisions regarding these assets and has no right to use any of these assets for any purpose; nor are these assets available under any circumstances to creditors of the Organization. However, the Organization's interest in the beneficial trust is required by GAAP to be recorded on the books of the Organization as a permanently restricted net asset. The beneficial interest in the trust is reported at its estimated fair value based on the fair value of the beneficial trust's underlying investments with changes in the fair value reflected in the investment income in the combined statement of activities and changes in net assets.

Property and Equipment

The Organization records significant expenditures for property and equipment at cost less accumulated depreciation. Improvements, which substantially enhance the utilization of or increase the useful life of the property and equipment, are capitalized at cost. Expenditures for normal maintenance and repairs are expensed as incurred. Depreciation is recognized using the straight-line method over the expected useful lives of the assets. Expected useful lives range from three to forty years. The cost of assets disposed of and the related accumulated depreciation are eliminated, and any resulting gains or losses are reflected in the accompanying combined statement of activities and changes in net assets in the period of disposal. Included in property and equipment are certain statues in which the Organization considers to be works of art and have not been depreciated.

Bond Issuance Cost

The Organization amortizes the bond issuance cost related to the bond payable over the life of the bond payable using the straight-line method of accounting. Amortization expense during 2014 and 2013 approximated $7,000 per year.

Contributions

Contributions received are recorded as unrestricted, temporarily restricted or permanently restricted support, depending on the existence and/or nature of any donor restrictions. Support that is restricted by the donor is reported as an increase in unrestricted net assets if the restriction expires in the reporting period in which the support is recognized. All other donor-restricted support is reported as an increase in temporarily or permanently restricted net assets, depending on the nature of the restriction. When a restriction expires (that is, when a stipulated time restriction ends or purpose restriction is accomplished), temporarily restricted net assets are reclassified to unrestricted net assets and reported in the combined statement of activities and changes in net assets as net assets released from restrictions.

Donated assets are recorded at their estimated fair value (as determined by management) at the date of donation. Donated services are recognized as contributions if the services, (a) create or enhance non-financial assets, or (b) require specialized skills, and are performed by people with those skills, and would otherwise be purchased by the Organization. The Organization pays for most services requiring specialized services. However, many individuals volunteer their time and perform a variety of tasks that assist the Organization with specific program functions, campaign solicitations and various other activities that are not recognized as contributions in the combined financial statements, because the recognition criteria under GAAP were not met.

Advertising

Advertising costs are expensed as incurred. Advertising expenses were approximately $987,000 and $998,000 for the years ended August 31, 2014 and 2013, respectively.

Comparative Prior Year Information

The combined statements of activities and changes in net assets and functional expenses for the year ended August 31, 2014 include certain summarized financial information in total but not by net asset class or program category for purposes of comparison to 2013 information. Such information does not include sufficient detail to constitute a presentation in conformity with GAAP. Accordingly, such information should be read in conjunction with the Organization's combined financial statements for the year ended August 31, 2014, from which the summarized information was derived.

C. Contributions Receivable

As of August 31, 2014, contributions receivable, net of discounts of approximately $13,000, are expected to be collected as follows:

Due in one year	$ 685,000
Due in two to five years	1,142,000
Total	 1,827,000
Less allowance for uncollectible pledges
Total contributions receivable	$ 1,827,000

D. Fair Value of Investments

ASC 820, which among other things, requires certain disclosures about assets and liabilities carried at fair value. As defined in ASC 820, fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. ASC 820 describes three approaches to measuring the fair value of assets and liabilities: the market approach, the income approach and the cost approach, each of which include multiple valuation techniques. The market approach uses prices and other relevant information generated by market transactions involving identical or comparable assets or liabilities. The income approach uses valuation techniques to measure fair value by converting future amounts, such as cash flows or earnings, into a single present value amount using current market expectations about those future amounts. The cost approach is based on the amount that would currently be required to replace the service capacity of an asset.

ASC 820 does not prescribe which valuation technique should be used when measuring fair value and does not prioritize among techniques. ASC 820 establishes a fair value hierarchy that prioritizes the inputs used in applying the various valuation techniques. Inputs broadly refer to the assumptions that market participants use to make pricing decisions, including assumptions about risk. The hierarchy gives the highest priority to unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities (level 1 measurement) and lowest priority to unobservable inputs (level 3 measurements). The three levels of fair value hierarchy defined by ASC 820 are as follows:

Level 1 – Inputs are unadjusted, quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities as of the reporting date.

D. Fair Value of Investments – continued

Level 2 – Pricing inputs are other than quoted prices in active markets included in Level 1, which are directly or indirectly observable as of the reporting date. Level 2 includes those financial instruments that are valued using models or other valuation methodologies. These models are primarily industry-standard models that consider various assumptions, including quoted forward prices for commodities, time value, volatility factors, and current market and contractual prices for the underlying instruments, as well as other relevant economic measures. Where observable inputs are available, directly or indirectly, for substantially the full term of the asset or liability, the instrument is categorized in Level 2. There were no Level 2 investments at August 31, 2014 or 2013.

Level 3 – Pricing inputs include significant inputs that are generally less observable from objective sources. These inputs may be used with internally developed methodologies that result in management's best estimate of fair value.

The Organization generally uses a market approach for the fair value measurements and endeavors to use the best information available. Accordingly, valuation techniques that maximize the use of observable inputs are favored. The following table presents the fair value hierarchy table for investments measured at fair value, on a recurring basis, as set forth in ASC 820:

	2014

Balance at end of year	$ 4,192,601	$ 2,738,051

The investment strategies of such investments are diversified as follows: a select group of private investments, various financial markets, trading in both long and short positions and securities for which there is no ready market or very limited liquidity.

The managers of these funds may restrict the redemption frequency to quarterly withdraws with a notice period of 90 days. Because of these withdrawal restrictions, the ultimate amount that the Organization may realize from these investments may vary significantly from their fair values as of August 31, 2014.

The note agreement underlying the bond payable requires the Organization to maintain certain financial covenants. As of August 31, 2014 and 2013, the Organization was in compliance with all such covenants.

Terms of the agreement require principal and interest payments through the maturity date of June 1, 2016. Specifically, FASB ASC 815 requires all entities, including not-for-profit organizations, to recognize all derivatives as either assets or liabilities in the statement of financial position and to measure such instruments at fair value and changes therein must be recorded as unrealized gains (losses) in the Organization's combined statement of activities and changes in net assets.

The fair value of the swap agreement was determined by the financial institution which holds the swap agreement using a pricing model that considers various market conditions, including discounted cash flow estimates. The fair value of the swap agreement at August 31, 2014 and 2013 represented a liability of approximately $99,000 and $199,000, respectively. The unrealized gain associated with the change in the liability was approximately $100,000 and $145,000 during 2014 and 2013, respectively.

The note and the interest rate swap are collateralized by the building financed.
